PEACE PRAYER WELCOMES NEW YEAR

Reds Blast GI Barracks In Viet Resort

Polish Envoy Defects, Gets Asylum in Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Communists blasted a U.S. enlisted men's barracks and aimed a major New Year's offensive at a provincial capital today but took a propaganda setback with the defection of a Polish diplomat.

The Pole, Anatol Slavinski of Lodz, 25, ran into a Saigon police station this morning and asked for asylum. Other Polish diplomats ran in after him demanding his return but they left sullenly when Vietnamese police turned them down after a shouting match.

Slavinski was assigned to the Polish delegation on the three-nation International Control Commission. The commission is a peacekeeping agency created under the 1954 agreements on Indochina that freed the area from French rule and created North and South Viet Nam. Its other members are India and Canada.

The Viet Cong gave a new show of their fighting determination on the eighth day of the suspension of U.S. air raids on North Viet Nam and in defiance of the intensive American peace maneuvers abroad.

Draft Rules On Students May Tighten

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man-hunting Selective Service agency says it is considering revival of the Korean wartime deferment standards for college students — which made it harder for marginal students to get draft exemptions.

Some 2.2 million students now hold deferments, and are required only to be doing satisfactory work as fulltime students at a properly accredited college or university.

"We're looking at some things that might be done to find less promising students," a Selective Service official said Thursday. "If we need more men...one good place to look is going to be the students."

The Korean War standards were dropped in 1962. Under them, class standing and performance on a Selective Service qualification test were considered before a ruling on draft eligibility was made.

A spokesman said the increasing draft board demands of the Viet Nam war — now responsible for about 40,000 draftees a month — has led Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey to summon state draft chiefs to a series of conferences.

AWAITING MIDNIGHT — The clock in the tower of the Court-house will join in with other timepieces throughout the world to greet the new year at midnight. At the stroke of 12, "Happy New Year" greetings will echo throughout the nation and 1966 will be under way.

Trio Caught, Money Found In Service Station Theft

Three law enforcement agencies in this area cooperated Thursday afternoon in quickly apprehending three suspects who allegedly made off with $136.37 from an eastend service station.

Incarcerated in the Pickaway County Jail pending the filing of charges are Melvin Hedges, 21, Route 4, and two juveniles.

The theft occurred at 4:12 p. m. yesterday at Fred Davis' Sohio Station on E. Main St.

Lester Leasure, an employee at the service station, was outside servicing a car. The trio inside supposedly opened the cash drawer, took the money and left.

LEASURE immediately discovered the money was missing. He notified authorities and reported the car was heading southeast on Route 55. The three persons were apprehended in Tarlton by Police Chief Robert Temple.

Deputy John Wolford of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and Patrolman G. E. Moore of the State Highway Patrol were commended by Chief Temple for their valuable assistance in apprehending the man and two juveniles.

Police reported $130 of the money was recovered at the time the three were apprehended. Officers indicated there was no apparent connection in yesterday's theft and one that occurred several weeks ago at the Jenkins Sunoco Station on W. Main St., although the methods used were about the same.

The Air Force, totaling more than 833,000 men, is still about 16,000 short of its ceiling. The Air Force is the only service which has relied totally on voluntary enlistments and has not drawn on the draft. However, like all services, it has benefited from enlistments spurred by higher draft calls.

The Army had the biggest job, trying to take in enough men to increase its ranks by 235,000. As of early this month, the Army had gained about 85,000 and had 150,000 to go.

The Army will get most of its additional manpower from the heavy draft calls which are expected to continue into the indefinite future.

Gov. Wallace's Wife May Run

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—"If Lurleen runs," said husband George C. Wallace, "she'll win."

And, the governor of Alabama added, "I'll campaign for her. We'll probably campaign together."

He hastily emphasized that no decision has been made on whether his attractive wife, 39, will be a candidate next year to succeed him. But he made no attempt to discourage the speculation.

Wallace also left unanswered in an interview the equally pertinent question of his own political future — whether he plans to run for the U.S. Senate in the Democratic primary next May.

U.S. Halfway Toward Goal In Manpower

181,000 More GIs Needed by Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. armed forces are near the halfway mark in their drive to add 340,000 men because of the Viet Nam war.

So far, they have gained 159,000 men and have 181,000 to go. The Defense Department has set next September as the target for completing the climb to 2,990,000 men in uniform. Congress authorized the buildup at the administration's urging last August.

The Navy and Marines are close to attaining their full complement. The Air Force is farther back and the Army — with the most men to attract — trails.

The latest report on strength levels shows that the Navy stands at about 716,000 men, only 5,000 short of the buildup goal.

However, the Navy faces a January problem when an involuntary extension of enlistments runs out. At that time the Navy could lose 6,500 men it held under the four-month emergency extension.

The Marine Corps totaled 213,000 men in early December — only 10,000 short of its objective. The Marines hope to complete the job by March 1, so they can assure every new man at least four months of basic and advanced individual training before July 1.

This is why the Marines have started drafting again and will take in nearly 9,000 men through Selective Service in January.

The Air Force, totaling more than 833,000 men, is still about 16,000 short of its ceiling. The Air Force is the only service which has relied totally on voluntary enlistments and has not drawn on the draft. U.S. Envoys Press Talks For Peace in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Viet Nam peace offensive extended to new capitals today in what one source called a test to see if North Viet Nam is ready for "a true peace settlement."

Vu Van Thai, South Viet Nam's ambassador to the United States, also said in a Washington interview that the peace effort "is not just an ultimatum for surrender."

"I feel everything has been done to create the conditions to show we are ready in sincerely seeking a settlement."

Meanwhile, presidential envoys W. Averell Harriman and Arthur J. Goldberg were in new European capitals as part of President Johnson's peace campaign to explain the U.S. desire for negotiations to end the Viet Nam war.

Ambassador-at-large Harriman had planned to talk today with Yugoslav President Tito, but the envoy's plane was reportedly turned back by fog as it neared destination. Thursday, Harriman talked with Polish

Ohio Civil War Group Winds Up 5-Year Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Civil War Centennial Commission expires today, leaving a legacy of 14 booklets, three plaques, a television film and a flag restoration project from its five-year life.

Its action work will linger longest in the program to restore and preserve Civil War battle flags of Ohio units, work that may take two more years to complete.

The booklets and the three-hour film may be the most important accomplishments of the commission, though they represented only a fraction of the $132,638 it spent from the time it was formally organized Nov. 18, 1959, until its formal expiration at midnight tonight.

The historical publications and film "were very good and were lasting," said Daniel Porter, director of the Ohio Historical Society and a member of the commission in its final, inactive, days.

Times Square Gets $10,000 Clock To Tick Off Arrival

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world welcomes the new year tonight with joyous celebration and a prayer for peace. It is a time of merrymakers, resolutions, popping corks — and cannons.

The West Germans will see 1966 in with a bang. They are all set to blow up $15 million worth of fireworks, almost 50 per cent more than last year.

According to German folklore, the bangs and flashes of Sylvester (New Year's Eve) are supposed to frighten off demons and evil spirits.

In the Moslem nations the observance of the new year may be somewhat subdued. It comes this year on the sixth day of Ramadan, the Moslem holy month of fasting.

The Islamic faithful have been warned that kissing and drinking are forbidden.

Roman Catholics are looking forward to the new year as the start of a special jubilee proclaimed by Pope Paul VI to mark the closing of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

In New York's Times Square — a traditional New Year's Eve gathering place — a new $10,000 illuminated digital clock controlled by signals from the U.S. Naval Observatory will time the arrival of 1966.

Along some of the nation's turnpikes, highway patrols prepared big urns of coffee in hope of seeing weary celebrators home safely.

And everywhere the world awaited word on President Johnson's efforts to bring the war in Viet Nam to the negotiating table. Johnson has sent diplomatic missions abroad to talk to world leaders.

President and Mrs. Johnson remained at the LBJ Ranch in Texas, where White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said they have no special plans for the evening.

Road Slaughter Off To Rapid Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the long New Year's holiday period barely under way, Ohio had counted at least 11 traffic deaths by early morning Friday. Three of the accidents caused multiple deaths.

This death rate was at a faster clip than the disastrous Christmas holiday period when 50 persons died in traffic accidents on the state's streets and highways.

The State Highway Safety Council has predicted that 27 lives will be lost on Ohio roads over the holiday weekend which ends Sunday midnight.

Memorable 1965 Fades Away, Bright New Year Beckons

By RICHARD DAVIS

An old year departs and a new one dawns.

The meaning of these words will be fulfilled when the clock tolls midnight. It will be the time to bid farewell to 1965 and extend a welcome to the next 12 months.

This community enjoyed its share of stirring, pleasant and unusual events during the year that is nearing an end. Tragedy, sadness and grim reality also left their marks here, just as they did around the globe.

It can justly be said the Pick-away County environment reaped the benefits of a progressive year, with excellent advances in growth and development. The same can be expected as the community moves into 1966.

The world situation is not good. The conflict in Viet Nam has touched home, with scores of young men from this locality serving there and many more facing draft notices.

BUT WE of this generation can ask: "When has the world outlook appeared good?" Regardless of these gloomy horizons and occasional setbacks, most Americans are determined they will meet their problems squarely — at home and abroad.

Despite international tension, it is the local scene happenings that draw immediate interest and speculation. Here are a few of the events that became history in this area during 1965:

JAN. 1 — The new year was less than 12 hours old when Pickaway County recorded its first traffic fatality. A 67-year-old killed in a single car accident on Interstate 71 south of the Pickaway-Franklin County line.

JAN. 4 — Harry E. Sark, Ashville, was appointed bailiff of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Robert E. Adkins. Sark was also named probation officer of the court, an office created here for the first time by Judge William Ammer.

Rumors were becoming widespread relative to a high producing oil strike on the Blanche Riggan Farm in Jackson Twp. The rumor materialized, later in the year, although the strike was not as big as hinted at the outset of the new year.

JAN. 6 — The Third National Bank made its initial offer to purchase of The Marfield Home Pickaway and Main Sts., as a site for future banking facilities.

Circleville Board of Education estimated appropriations for 1965 operations at $958,242.37.

JAN. 7 — Pickaway County governmental appropriations for 1965 totaled $1,298,404.34 — an increase of $60,268.63 over 1964 figures.

JAN. 15 — Pickaway Lodge

No. 23, Free and Accepted Masons, was observing the 150th anniversary of its founding in Circleville. The lodge was chartered Jan. 1815.

JAN. 16 — A five-inch snowfall blanketed the Pickaway County area — the first big snowfall of the season.

JAN. 20 — Daniel Ealey, 47, Williamsport, pleaded guilty to two accusations of murder before a three-judge court. The homicides occurred on Dec. 23, in a Williamsport apartment building. He was sentenced to two life terms in the penitentiary.

JAN. 25 — A figure of $2 million was mentioned in President Johnson's budget for construction purposes on the Deer Creek Reservoir project. The 727-acre recreation lake is now under construction north-east of New Holland in Pickaway County.

JAN. 28 — Pickaway Countians mourned the death of Mr. Ed Wallace, 77, who died following a fall at his home at 425 N. Court St. He had been representative to the State Legislature for seven consecutive terms.

JAN. 29 — The Outstanding

Young Farmer Award, presented annually by Circleville Jaycees, went to William Richards, Route 2.

U.S. Envoys Press Talks For Peace in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Nam peace offensive extended to new capitals today in what one source called a test to see if North Viet Nam is ready for "a true peace settlement."

Vu Van Thai, South Viet Nam's ambassador to the United States, also said in a Washington interview that the peace effort "is not just an ultimatum for surrender."

"I feel everything has been done to create the conditions to show we are ready in sincerely seeking a settlement."

Meanwhile, presidential envoys W. Averell Harriman and Arthur J. Goldberg were in new European capitals as part of President Johnson's peace campaign to explain the U.S. desire for negotiations to end the Viet Nam war.

Ambassador-at-large Harriman had planned to talk today with Yugoslav President Tito, but the envoy's plane was reportedly turned back by fog as it neared destination. Thursday, Harriman talked with Polish

U.S. Weather Is Following Wide Pattern

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A crazy — quilt weather pattern, a combination of winter and spring temperatures, rain, snow and warm and cold winds, featured the nation's climatic picture today.

A wintry storm, with snow, ice, cold and strong northerly winds, whipped across the northern Plains and headed eastward. Temperatures fell below zero across the Plains of eastern Montana and the western Dakotas.

More rain and snow fell in the storm-swept Pacific Coast region but amounts generally were lighter than during the first part of the week.

Cloudy skies and unseasonably mild temperatures covered broad areas east of the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Coast.

The mercury hit record high marks for Dec. 31 early today in some Midwest cities, including 61 at Moline, Ill. The weather bureau said readings in some cities equaled nighttime marks during the summer season.

Cold-wave warnings were in effect in Montana east of the Continental Divide and the gusty winds fanned the Arctic air eastward into the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Near-blizzard conditions were reported at Dickinson, N.D. Snow amounts up to four inches were expected in the storm belt. Heavy fog in southern Minnesota Thursday night cut visibility to a few feet.

SPRING — LIKE weather continued today with temperatures in the 60s... Rain, possibly a thundershower, will usher in the new year, according to the weatherman... And colder weather can be expected.

Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki and Red Party Chief Gomulka, Goldberg, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was in Paris to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle. Goldberg met with Pope Paul VI and Italian officials in Rome Thursday.

Goldberg's plans after the De Gaulle talks weren't known. De Gaulle has been critical of U.S. policy, and has urged a neutrality plan for the Indochinese peninsula (North and South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia). He has not said, however, how this neutrality should be enforced, nor has he defied Communist China's role.

In addition to the Harriman and Goldberg forays, President Johnson's campaign also included an Ottawa visit between presidential assistant Mc-

Ohio Civil War Group Winds Up 5-Year Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Civil War Centennial Commission expires today, leaving a legacy of 14 booklets, three plaques, a television film and a flag restoration project from its five-year life.

Its action work will linger longest in the program to restore and preserve Civil War battle flags of Ohio units, work that may take two more years to complete.

The booklets and the three-hour film may be the most important accomplishments of the commission, though they represented only a fraction of the $132,638 it spent from the time it was formally organized Nov. 18, 1959, until its formal expiration at midnight tonight.

The historical publications and film "were very good and were lasting," said Daniel Porter, director of the Ohio Historical Society and a member of the commission in its final, inactive, days.

Markers placed to commemorate President Lincoln's visit to Ohio in 1861, he suggested were "very limited in scope."

Most of the commission's other activities were meetings and events seeking to stir public interest in the centennial of the long war between the states. "The centennial was essentially a large-scale and long-lasting public relations project," the commission's final report to Gov. James A. Rhodes said.

Speeches by historians, tours by a famous Civil War locomotive and various public ceremonies and meetings represented most of the commission's functions. Its activity largely lapsed during 1964.

Its final spurt of activity was the showing April 9, 1965, of the film, "Ohio Has Saved the Union," prepared by WOSU, the Ohio State University educational television station. The commission contributed $1,100 to this work, and the film is expected to be available for future use in schools.

About $20,500 was spent for publishing historical works of Ohio's relationship to the Civil War, most of them written by professors at Ohio colleges and universities. The most popular work was "Ohio Handbook of the Civil War" by Robert S. Harper, of the Ohio Historical Society.

Most of the commission's expenditures, $93,549, went for operating expenses, including about $70,000 for salaries of various employees, most of them hired part-time.

Japan Urges Commies To Go to Peace Table

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government urged the Communists today to go to the conference table to bring peace to Viet Nam.

A statement released by Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's spokesman, Chief Cabinet Secretary Tomisaburo Hashimoto, said:

"The Japanese government hopes the Communist side will fully understand the United States' intention to end the war in Viet Nam and promptly enter negotiations to restore peace in Asia."

Times Square Gets $10,000 Clock To Tick Off Arrival

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world welcomes the new year tonight with joyous celebration and a prayer for peace. It is a time of merrymakers, resolutions, popping corks — and cannons.

The West Germans will see 1966 in with a bang. They are all set to blow up $15 million worth of fireworks, almost 50 per cent more than last year.

According to German folklore, the bangs and flashes of Sylvester (New Year's Eve) are supposed to frighten off demons and evil spirits.

In the Moslem nations the observance of the new year may be somewhat subdued. It comes this year on the sixth day of Ramadan, the Moslem holy month of fasting.

The Islamic faithful have been warned that kissing and drinking are forbidden.

Roman Catholics are looking forward to the new year as the start of a special jubilee proclaimed by Pope Paul VI to mark the closing of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

In New York's Times Square — a traditional New Year's Eve gathering place — a new $10,000 illuminated digital clock controlled by signals from the U.S. Naval Observatory will time the arrival of 1966.

Along some of the nation's turnpikes, highway patrols prepared big urns of coffee in hope of seeing weary celebrators home safely.

And everywhere the world awaited word on President Johnson's efforts to bring the war in Viet Nam to the negotiating table. Johnson has sent diplomatic missions abroad to talk to world leaders.

President and Mrs. Johnson remained at the LBJ Ranch in Texas, where White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said they have no special plans for the evening.

Road Slaughter Off To Rapid Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the long New Year's holiday period barely under way, Ohio had counted at least 11 traffic deaths by early morning Friday. Three of the accidents caused multiple deaths.

This death rate was at a faster clip than the disastrous Christmas holiday period when 50 persons died in traffic accidents on the state's streets and highways.

The State Highway Safety Council has predicted that 27 lives will be lost on Ohio roads over the holiday weekend which ends Sunday midnight.

Memorable 1965 Fades Away, Bright New Year Beckons

By RICHARD DAVIS

An old year departs and a new one dawns.

The meaning of these words will be fulfilled when the clock tolls midnight. It will be the time to bid farewell to 1965 and extend a welcome to the next 12 months.

This community enjoyed its share of stirring, pleasant and unusual events during the year that is nearing an end. Tragedy, sadness and grim reality also left their marks here, just as they did around the globe.

It can justly be said the Pick-away County environment reaped the benefits of a progressive year, with excellent advances in growth and development. The same can be expected as the community moves into 1966.

The world situation is not good. The conflict in Viet Nam has touched home, with scores of young men from this locality serving there and many more facing draft notices.

BUT WE of this generation can ask: "When has the world outlook appeared good?" Regardless of these gloomy horizons and occasional setbacks, most Americans are determined they will meet their problems squarely — at home and abroad.

Despite international tension, it is the local scene happenings that draw immediate interest and speculation. Here are a few of the events that became history in this area during 1965:

JAN. 1 — The new year was less than 12 hours old when Pickaway County recorded its first traffic fatality. A 67-year-old killed in a single car accident on Interstate 71 south of the Pickaway-Franklin County line

JAN. 4 — Harry E. Sark, Ashville, was appointed bailiff of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Robert E. Adkins. Sark was also named probation officer of the court, an office created here for the first time by Judge William Ammer.

Rumors were becoming widespread relative to a high producing oil strike on the Blanche Riggan Farm in Jackson Twp. The rumor materialized, later in the year, although the strike was not as big as hinted at the outset of the new year.

JAN. 6 — The Third National Bank made its initial offer to purchase of The Marfield Home Pickaway and Main Sts., as a site for future banking facilities.

Circleville Board of Education estimated appropriations for 1965 operations at $958,242.

JAN. 7 — Pickaway County governmental appropriations for 1965 totaled $1,298,404.34 — an increase of $60,268.63 over 1964 figures.

JAN. 15 — Pickaway Lodge

No. 23, Free and Accepted Masons, was observing the 150th anniversary of its founding in Circleville. The lodge was chartered Jan. 1815.

JAN. 16 — A five-inch snowfall blanketed the Pickaway County area — the first big snowfall of the season.

JAN. 20 — Daniel Ealey, 47, Williamsport, pleaded guilty to two accusations of murder before a three-judge court. The homicides occurred on Dec. 23, in a Williamsport apartment building. He was sentenced to two life terms in the penitentiary.

JAN. 25 — A figure of $2 million was mentioned in President Johnson's budget for construction purposes on the Deer Creek Reservoir project. The 727-acre recreation lake is now under construction north-east of New Holland in Pickaway County.

JAN. 28 — Pickaway Countians mourned the death of Mr. Ed Wallace, 77, who died following a fall at his home at 425 N. Court St. He had been representative to the State Legislature for seven consecutive terms.

JAN. 29 — The Outstanding

Chinese Nationalist troops defending the Quemoy islands are under orders not to reply to routine Communist Chinese gunfire for three days starting today.

The Quemoy defense command said the cease-fire is designed "to enable our compatriots on the mainland to celebrate the new year and the anniversary Jan. 1, of the founding of the Republic of China in 1912."

Free coffee is being offered to motorists along the Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey turnpikes.

And the Burlington, Vt., Free Press is offering for the fifth consecutive year to pay the funeral costs of anyone who plans to drink and drive New Year's Eve. They have to register at the newspaper first.

Traffic patrols across the nation are being beefed up for the holiday weekend.

Taking note of the mild weather forecast, Detroit Director of Traffic William Polkinghorn said:

"This kind of weather always induces speed, and coupled with drink and fatigue, it's a dangerous situation."

Perhaps one way to build up courage to face the new year is to eat some roast lion.

An inn in Plymouth, Mich., is offering roast lion in wine sauce, with soup and desert included, at $5.80 as part of its new year's menu.

Robert J. Strenich, co-owner of the restaurant, says roast lion tastes like veal.

Clergymen in Detroit issued warnings about the holiday. The Council of Churches said in a statement: "The excesses of celebrations are not only inappropriate, but they often lead to traffic tragedies and the breakdown of families through dissension."

In Portland, Ore., the Bureau of Health cautioned that the New Year holiday with its breakdown of inhibitions is a health hazard.

It said, with a straight face, that many communicable diseases are spread by kissing. It recommended restraint and selectivity.

And in Times Square, among the maddening crowd will be a few pickets protesting people having fun. They are being called out by an irate, but unidentified, New Yorker who feels the city has enough chaos without turning the place over to a bunch of merry-makers.

Ohio's Tomato Output Is Setting Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tomato and tomato juice production in Ohio are setting records, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

Director John Stackhouse said Thursday production of tomato juice, Ohio's official state beverage, has increased at a pace of 54 per cent, and that tomato production was 469,851 tons in 1965.

Strange Beliefs Linked To Coming of New Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Things will go bad for you all through the new year if you sneeze while getting ready for bed tonight.

That's one of a long list of beliefs that people—some people, anyhow—associate with New Year's.

A Library of Congress researcher found, for example, there are many believers in the "first footer" twist of fate. This means that the first visitor to cross a threshold on New Year's Day brings with him good or bad luck for the whole year.

A dark-haired man, it seems, is the best bet for good luck. A red-haired man is the worst.

Some other beliefs:

Good luck will be your reward if you place a piece of money on the window sill on New Year's Eve.

If by tonight you don't have a 1966 calendar, you may very well be late for appointments all year long.

You might get a line on the future by dipping into your Bible or hymn book tonight, and taking a chosen-at-random text for your guide through 1966.

Then there's the matter of new year resolutions.

The World Book Encyclopedia traces their background this way:

"In ancient Rome, the first day of the year was given over to honoring Janus, the god of gates and doors and of beginnings and endings...Janus had two faces, and looked both ahead and backward.

"On the first day of the year the Roman people looked back to what had happened during the past year and thought of what the coming year might bring...

"The early English took over many of the Roman new year customs. Later English people followed the custom of cleaning the chimneys on New Year's Day. This was supposed to bring good luck to the household during the coming year. Today we say 'cleaning the slate' instead of 'cleaning the chimney.' This means making resolutions to correct faults and bad habits,

Family Wondering About 'Honesty'

CINCINNATI (AP) — There was no apparent connection between the two happenings, but the Brown family was wondering about this saying that honesty is the best policy.

Local Feed Firm Praised For Accuracy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Following laboratory tests that showed the high efficiency of their grinding and mixing equipment, Pickaway Grain Company of Circleville, has been issued a Certificate of Mixing Accuracy by the Ralston Purina Company of St. Louis, Mo.

This certificate qualifies the local feed company to mix Purina Micro-Mixed supplements and concentrates with farmers' locally grown grains under approved formulas, thus enabling the farmer to make the best feeding use of his grains.

Samples of the local feed dealer's regular custom mixed feeds were sent to the Company's Research Laboratory in St. Louis where analyses were made to see how thoroughly the ingredients were mixed. These samples met the high standards of accuracy set by Purina's Check-R-Mix Department, showing a variation of less than one half of one per cent in protein content.

Feed mixed to this high accuracy has the practical result of insuring the feeder that each ingredient of the ration is found in proper quantity in each mouthful of the feed. The proper mixing of rations using grains grown locally by farmers in this area has long been recognized as an important factor in the efficient and economical feeding of livestock and poultry.

George Bundy and Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. Pearson later talked to Johnson by telephone.

All the visits were veiled in secrecy, and made public only after the Americans had arrived at their destinations.

In Texas, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said discussions also were going on between U.S. officials and other governments. Moyers, however, declined to discuss them further. Some sources say the United States is seeking peace talks through intermediaries.

Moyers said the President, spending the holidays at his Texas ranch, is keeping in touch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, but added: "The extent to which he is receiving reports is something I am unable to deal with."

The peace hopes received another swipe from North Viet Nam Thursday when Radio Hanoi declared:

"As long as the U.S. aggressors are still unwilling to really recognize our government's stand, all their contentions about peace negotiations are only hypocritical and aimed at deceiving public opinion."

"The four-point stand of our government and the five-point statement of the South Viet Nam (Communist Viet Cong guerrilla) National Liberation Front provide a very fair and reasonable basis for a political settlement of the Viet Nam problem."

Official U.S. sources said that the heart of the problem was the insistence by North Viet Nam that there must be advance acceptance of their four-point program.

The United States has made clear since President Johnson's April 7 speech in Baltimore, that the negotiations can be launched without any prior conditions for either side.

The major difficulty, authorities said, was Communist insistence that the program of the Communist National Liberation Front be accepted.

U.S. officials made clear that if Hanoi continues to push into South Viet Nam there were only two alternatives: for the United States to get out of South Viet Nam, or to meet the Communist forces. The decision has been made that "we will meet them," one official said, if that becomes necessary.

Alcohol Experts Detail How To Drink Properly

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — You can tell some of the real drinkers, even before they have had a drink, according to a student of alcohol and its effects on drinkers.

"On the way to the party the voice gets louder, mildly funny remarks are found to be hilarious, even drinking patterns are more carefree than usual before a drink is consumed," says Robert W. Jones, associate director of the Rutgers University Center of Alcohol Studies.

"Most people don't really want to get drunk on New Year's Eve — and they don't," Jones says, even by accident.

Both Jones and his associate,

Dr. Leon Greenberg, discount word - of - mouth measures designed to prevent intoxication.

Steak is as good as a glass of milk to "coat" the tummy in advance, because anything with a high protein content serves the same purpose. They advise eating a good meal before drinking much liquor.

Both say coffee does not sober you up. "The only good it does is that you are not drinking alcohol while you drink the coffee," Jones says.

The coffee may wake you up but it won't sober you up, Greenberg says.

The best bet is to space your drinks, one an hour would be ideal, they advise. "If you think you've had enough, wander around with a glass of ginger ale instead of Scotch," Jones suggests.

What to do about a hangover? Nothing, according to Greenberg, who has been studying the effects of alcohol for 22 years and enjoys an occasional social drink.

But Greenberg says studies have shown that a partygoer who nibbles the night through on snacks and delicacies, smokes too much, and "runs around like a loon" will wake up the next morning with a hangover even if he didn't have any alcohol.

To those that did imbibe, a couple of drinks the next morning may bring momentary relief, "but it isn't exactly the thing to do — it just postpones the evil moment," Greenberg says. He adds:

A cold glass of water the first thing on awakening won't make you drunk again, as some say. It merely wakes you up enough to realize you are still drunk.

So suffer, if you've had too much. Only time will help, although you can distract yourself by taking pills, he concludes.

Church of Christ in Christian Union, E. Ohio St., will observe special New Year's Eve services from 8 p. m. until after midnight, according to Rev. Edward Adkins, pastor.

The Rev. Ronald Hood will be guest speaker for the service and music will be provided by the Family Four Quartet of Adrian, Mich.

An inn in Plymouth, Mich., is offering roast lion in wine sauce, with soup and desert included, at $5.80 as part of its new year's menu.

Robert J. Stremich, co-owner of the restaurant, says roast lion tastes like veal.

Clergymen in Detroit issued warnings about the holiday. The Council of Churches said in a statement: "The excesses of celebrations are not only inappropriate, but they often lead to traffic tragedies and the break-up of families through dissension."

In Portland, Ore., the Bureau of Health cautioned that the New Year holiday with its breakdown of inhibitions is a health hazard.

It said, with a straight face, that many communicable diseases are spread by kissing. It recommended restraint and selectivity.

And in Times Square, among the maddening crowd will be a few pickets protesting people having fun. They are being called out by an irate, but unidentified, New Yorker who feels the city has enough chaos without turning the place over to a bunch of merry-makers.

Strange Beliefs Linked To Coming of New Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Things will go bad for you all through the new year if you sneeze while getting ready for bed tonight.

That's one of a long list of beliefs that people—some people, anyhow—associate with New Year's.

A Library of Congress researcher found, for example, there are many believers in the "first footer" twist of fate. This means that the first visitor to cross a threshold on New Year's Day brings with him good or bad luck for the whole year.

A dark-haired man, it seems, is the best bet for good luck. A red-haired man is the worst.

Some other beliefs:

Good luck will be your reward if you place a piece of money on the window sill on New Year's Eve.

If by tonight you don't have a 1966 calendar, you may very well be late for appointments all year long.

You might get a line on the future by dipping into your Bible or hymn book tonight, and taking a chosen-at-random text for your guide through 1966.

Then there's the matter of new year resolutions.

The World Book Encyclopedia traces their background this way:

"In ancient Rome, the first day of the year was given over to honoring Janus, the god of gates and doors and of beginnings and endings...Janus had two faces, and looked both ahead and backward.

"On the first day of the year the Roman people looked back to what had happened during the past year and thought of what the coming year might bring...

"The early English took over many of the Roman new year customs. Later English people followed the custom of cleaning the chimneys on New Year's Day. This was supposed to bring good luck to the household during the coming year. Today we say 'cleaning the slate' instead of 'cleaning the chimney.' This means making resolutions to correct faults and bad habits, and resolving to make the new year better."

The National Geographic Society says that celebrating the new year is as old as mankind, that the Babylonians, Egyptians, Romans and Greeks all whooped it up.

Local Feed Firm Praised For Accuracy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Following laboratory tests that showed the high efficiency of their grinding and mixing equipment, Pickaway Grain Company of Circleville, has been issued a Certificate of Mixing Accuracy by the Ralston Purina Company of St. Louis, Mo.

This certificate qualifies the local feed company to mix Purina Micro-Mixed supplements and concentrates with farmers' locally grown grains under approved formulas, thus enabling the farmer to make the best feeding use of his grains.

Samples of the local feed dealer's regular custom mixed feeds were sent to the Company's Research Laboratory in St. Louis where analyses were made to see how thoroughly the ingredients were mixed. These samples met the high standards of accuracy set by Purina's Check-R-Mix Department, showing a variation of less than one half of one per cent in protein content.

Feed mixed to this high accuracy has the practical result of insuring the feeder that each ingredient of the ration is found in proper quantity in each mouthful of the feed. The proper mixing of rations using grains grown locally by farmers in this area has long been recognized as an important factor in the efficient and economical feeding of livestock and poultry.

Family Wondering About 'Honesty'

CINCINNATI (AP) — There was no apparent connection between the two happenings, but the Brown family was wondering about this saying that honesty is the best policy.

Mrs. Vernon Brown of suburban Reading Thursday found a purse with more than $500 in the parking lot of the Kenwood Plaza shopping center. She turned it over to officials.

Meanwhile her husband bought a pair of slacks and put the package down to look at something else. Someone swiped the package.

George Bundy and Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. Pearson later talked to Johnson by telephone.

All the visits were veiled in secrecy, and made public only after the Americans had arrived at their destinations.

In Texas, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said discussions also were going on between U.S. officials and other governments. Moyers, however, declined to discuss them further. Some sources say the United States is seeking peace talks through intermediaries.

Moyers said the President, spending the holidays at his Texas ranch, is keeping in touch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, but added: "The extent to which he is receiving reports is something I am unable to deal with."

The peace hopes received another swipe from North Viet Nam Thursday when Radio Hanoi declared:

"As long as the U.S. aggressors are still unwilling to really recognize our government's stand, all their contentions about peace negotiations are only hypocritical and aimed at deceiving public opinion."

"The four-point stand of our government and the five-point statement of the South Viet Nam (Communist) Viet Cong guerrilla) National Liberation Front provide a very fair and reasonable basis for a political settlement of the Viet Nam problem."

Official U.S. sources said that the heart of the problem was the insistence by North Viet Nam that there must be advance acceptance of their four-point program.

The United States has made clear since President Johnson's April 7 speech in Baltimore, that the negotiations can be launched without any prior conditions for either side.

The major difficulty, authorities said, was Communism, insistence that the program of the Communist National Liberation Front be accepted.

U.S. officials made clear that if Hanoi continues to push into South Viet Nam there were only two alternatives: for the United States to get out of South Viet Nam, or to meet the Communist forces. The decision has been made that "we will meet them," one official said, if that becomes necessary.

Dr. Leon Greenberg, discount word - of - mouth measures designed to prevent intoxication.

Steak is as good as a glass of milk to "coat" the tummy in advance, because anything with a high protein content serves the same purpose. They advise eating a good meal before drinking much liquor.

Both say coffee does not sober you up. "The only good it does is that you are not drinking alcohol while you drink the coffee," Jones says.

The coffee may wake you up but it won't sober you up, Greenberg says.

The best bet is to space your drinks, one an hour would be ideal, they advise. "If you think you've had enough, wander around with a glass of ginger ale instead of Scotch," Jones suggests.

What to do about a hangover? Nothing, according to Greenberg, who has been studying the effects of alcohol for 72 years and enjoys an occasional social drink.

But Greenberg says studies have shown that a partygoer who nibbles the night through on snacks and delicacies, smokes too much, and "runs around like a loon" will wake up the next morning with a hangover even if he didn't have any alcohol.

To those that did imbibe, a couple of drinks the next morning may bring momentary relief, "but it isn't exactly the thing to do — it just postpones the evil moment," Greenberg says. He adds:

A cold glass of water the first thing on awakening won't make you drunk again, as some say. It merely wakes you up enough to realize you are still drunk.

So suffer, if you've had too much. Only time will help, although you can distract yourself by taking pills, he concludes.

January's Role

There is, as many storytellers are eager to point out, no better way to begin a story than at the beginning. It is a maxim equally applicable to the new year. Whatever surprises 1966 may be holding up its sleeve, the month of January has been a favorite month of important occurrences in the past.

It was, for example, the birth month of such famous Americans as Benjamin Franklin, Alexander Hamilton, Daniel Webster, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, William McKinley and F. D. Roosevelt.

On Jan. 7, 1789, the first national election of the young Republic was held. It was more of an acclamation than an election. George Washington was the sole candidate for president and received all 69 electoral votes.

Jan. 8, 1815, was the date this nation won its second major war for independence from the British crown. On that day Gen. Jackson defeated the British at New Orleans and the peace treaty was ratified shortly thereafter by Congress.

On Jan. 24, 1848, an event occurred in California which triggered the wild dash for natural wealth ever seen in the United States. It was on that day the John Marshall discovered gold in Sutter's Mill. Because of the great distances involved and the lack of speedy communications, it was almost a year until the gold seekers were headed to California en masse from all corners of the country.

Several of the 50 states chose January to make their entrances into the Union: Connecticut, Georgia, Kansas, Michigan, New Mexico and Utah.

All in all, January has been an historic and ambitious month. Whether it is so because of coincidence or the natural energy produced by replacing the old year with the new is debatable, but the odds are good that January, 1966, will add its contribution to the nation's diary.

How To Feel Like a Bluebird

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of people will celebrate too much tonight — and they will be sorry Saturday.

"I know I made a fool of myself," each will say to himself, "but what else could I do?"

And then he will stick his head under a tap of cold water, eat some ice cream, drink a can of frigid tomato juice laced with butters, or just bury his head beneath the blanket and hope that time will take away his misery.

What else could he do but get a hangover on New Year's Eve? Why, the poor, poor pauper of opportunity! There are many things a man can do to constructively employ the final hours of 1965, things that will enable him to wake up in 1966 feeling like a bluebird.

He can, for example— Twiddle his thumbs. Call up his friends at whatever party they went to and listen to their silly sounds.

Bawl out the cat. Listen to his wife. Tell himself how sensible he's being.

Walk around the block. Count the stars in a silent sky. Brood about how a hen lays an egg.

Apologize to the cat. Try, for a chance, to get his wife to listen to him.

Hum to tune of "Auld Lang Syne." If wife frowns, frown right back.

Go back to the refrigerator to see if anything else can be thawed.

Turn on television program showing foolish people yacking it up at hotel New Year's Eve party.

Go to bed feeling strangely wistful and lonely. However, a man who does this will be rewarded by waking up feeling like a bluebird on New Year's morning.

By the way, do you know how a bluebird feels on New Year's morning? Empty — as usual.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States rings out tonight its most prosperous year. Records fell right and left. But problems there were aplenty and at year-end tensions were growing.

There was a lot of excitement in 1965, especially in the stock market, where prices swung widely and trading volume soared. And government and business squared off for some notable showdowns over wages, prices, interest rate, antitrust action, overseas investments — with signs of bigger battles to come.

Still, 1965 turned out better on the business front than most people expected just a year ago tonight. And all the worries to-day about the top uncertainty — the course of the Viet Nam war — may make executives wary of adopting fixed patterns for their firms but generally confident that one way or another the 1966 economy as a whole will outdo even the record year now ending.

Americans this year produced some $672 billion in goods and services, up from $628.7 billion in 1964. Many think 1966 might see this Gross National Product soar to the $715 billion range.

Personal incomes rose almost steadily all year to a record $549 billion, against $495 billion in 1964. The jobless rate, a major problem last winter, at year-end was down around 4 per cent, lowest level in years. And labor shortages were plaguing many employers needing highly skilled workers.

Business profits kept rising all year to total around $45 billion after taxes, up from $37 billion in 1964. Wage increases averaged around 4.2 per cent, largest in several years, and a faster rate than either prices or productivity were setting.

All of the year's events had their moments of reaction by the stock market. January saw stock prices setting a record high. Domestic and international crises set prices back for a time and then they hit a new high in May only to slide badly through June.

Prices made still higher ground in October, again in November, and after much seesawing managed a record high at Christmas time.

Volume of trading was terrific much of the year, adding to the fears at year-end that speculative forces might be at work — one of the ingredients of past booms and busts.

So the year drew to a close with most Americans prosperous, many nervous, a majority confident, but with almost no one dead sure he had all the answers.

Favorite—and most alluring—of the late Aly Khan's countless female companions was the glamorous French model, Bettina. Now Bettina has published her autobiography. In it she has this bit of advice for other members of the so-called weaker sex: "The more one can forget one's face, the longer one will remain young. Women who live in an agony of apprehension about losing their youth will lose it ten times faster than those who don't. It is not their bodies they should be attending to, but their souls."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Do pinworm infections of the intestines only occur in sub-tropical climates?

This is a false notion. Pinworm infections undoubtedly appear more frequently in the warmer climate, yet it reaches an estimated 20 per cent in North American cities where sanitation and sewage disposal is under strict supervision.

The pinworm that thrives in the intestinal tract in children and adults is called Oxyuris Vermicularis. Contrary to popular belief, these worms have no special regard for any social classes, any age group, any level of education or occupation.

How can this infection be cured?

The cure and prevention are intimately combined. There are now many safe and remarkable chemicals, which are effective in destroying these worms and other intestinal parasites.

Even after repeated examination of the stool fails to show pinworms, family hygiene must be strictly maintained. The fingernails must be kept short and thoroughly scrubbed before each meal. The hands must be cleaned particularly well after going to the toilet.

Underclothes must be changed daily. Bathing must be regular and preferably twice a day. Separate towels should be used for drying the face and the rest of the body. Bedclothes must be laundered every day.

Children, during play, pick up these infections from other children. When pinworms are found the mothers of other children should be warned so that they can rigidly inspect their child to prevent infection.

There is sometimes a false feeling of shame when people are told that they or their children are infested with pinworms. They, therefore, fail to alert parents of other children, and thus foster the spread of pinworms in a community.

Parasite infections are a universal problem. They can be controlled if the advice of public health officials is strictly adhered to.

Subsea Exploring Is Not Sport!

This diver is exploring a submarine mountain peak which towers 10,000 feet above the floor of the ocean. To reach the peak the diver had to plunge 120 feet down into the sea.

First Lady Hails Dayton Litter Plan

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton's "litter getters" have been praised by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson who said she is encouraged "to learn that our younger citizens appreciate beauty."

Mrs. Johnson recently wrote letters to leaders of the group, saying the tidying-up project in Dayton View was called to her attention by Dayton Mayor

Frank R. Somers. "I was delighted to learn that you had been hard at work tidying up your neighborhood, and I am sure the whole community is proud of your efforts," the letter said in part.

Youngsters who participate in the project are 8-12 years old. They now number about 50 and the group is getting larger.

Armed with pointed sticks, red and blue baskets, and identifying sweat shirts, the children scoop up litter in alleys, front yards, and vacant lots.

Subsea Exploring Is Not Sport!

This diver is exploring a submarine mountain peak which towers 10,000 feet above the floor of the ocean. To reach the peak the diver had to plunge 120 feet down into the sea.

By JAMES N. MILLER

Correspondent

SEATTLE, Wash. — Walt Sands, an oceanographer with the University of Washington here, isn't supposed to be wild about scuba diving and other kinds of underwater highjinx. In addition it's said to be a mild secret among Sands' friends that he's also not crazy about mountain climbing.

Yet, Walt recently led a five-man team of divers on what rates as the world's oddest mountain - exploring expedition. The group explored a peak almost two miles high. Nothing unique about that. But while so doing the men had to dive into the sea a distance of only 120 feet below the surface in order to roam around the mountain top.

The six were the first to set foot on, and literally swim into, the summit of an underwater mountain which Sands says is about two-thirds the height of Mt. Ranier.

The mountain, known as the Cobb Seamount, is a steep isolated cone rising 10,000 feet above the ocean bottom. It lies 275 nautical miles west of Grays Harbor, Wash. Sands says its peak is oval-shaped land measures a maximum of 800 yards long and 300 yards wide.

The pinnacle, according to Walt, is composed of hard rock, fissured by small canyons and coated with only a thin layer of sponge and encrusting algae.

The divers, operating off the university's oceanographic research vessel, the Brown Bear, spent nine hours exploring the peak. They wanted to determine the practical value of the mountain as the base for a radio tower which could transmit valuable oceanographic information from the high seas. Sands found that the seamount was ideal for the purpose. He reports: "Eventually we hope to build a 150-foot steel tower on a level sheet of bed rock, which will provide a suitable anchorage for the tower base."

Most of the tower structure and equipment will be under water, including the power supply, transmitter and electronic equipment, to minimize the impact of ocean wave forces.

From the standpoint of the biologist and the oceanographer, the seamount is a valuable area of study because, as Sands explains, "it supports an isolated community of marine life, such as red snapper, halibut, sea urchins and star fish, which normally are found only in coastal waters."

Sands says the expedition proved that it is possible to locate any object on the pinnacle by the use of television from the mother ship and that it is possible for scuba divers to do useful work on the seamount itself.

The divers took pictures underwater with television, movie and still cameras and also collected biological and rock samples around the peak. Additional TV footage was obtained from a fixed camera mounted on an underwater vehicle, attached to the mother ship by a cable.

Sands estimates the underwater mountain is about 25 million years old and at one time may have extended more than 3,000 feet above the sea. The terraces, he says, which are now under water, appear to have been formed in part by wave action which would mean they were at one time at the surface.

The seamount was discovered accidentally in 1950 by a crew of a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service vessel. They noticed a heavy concentration of seabirds and proceeded towards them, when the vessel began passing over increasingly shallow water. Soundings by a depth finder revealed the unusual phenomenon.

Purpose of the proposed sea mountain tower will be to develop and exploit for scientific purposes the natural resources of the sea adjoining the state of Washington. As Walt Sands points out: "Puget Sound is a unique oceanographic laboratory. Cobb Seamount adds to our regional capabilities for important studies and development."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Heed Your Head!

DEAR ABBY: Recently I have become a stranger to myself. I wake up every morning hoping I won't have to see anyone. I was always such a friendly person, I can't understand it. People try to call on me and invite me places, but I usually turn them down with some excuse. If I do make myself accept, for my husband's sake, I become very nervous and just wish I could get away from them. Abby, I am 26 years old, have a wonderful husband and two adorable children. I have no reason to run away from people and nothing to be afraid of. Do you think I am heading for a nervous breakdown? I suggested going to a psychiatrist, but my husband is against it. He says it's all in my head.

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Ask your family doctor to recommend a psychiatrist and to tell your husband why he did so. The psychiatrist may be able to tell you if it's "all in your head."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Heed Your Head!

DEAR ABBY: Recently I have become a stranger to myself. I wake up every morning hoping I won't have to see anyone. I was always such a friendly person, I can't understand it. People try to call on me and invite me places, but I usually turn them down with some excuse. If I do make myself accept, for my husband's sake, I become very nervous and just wish I could get away from them. Abby, I am 26 years old, have a wonderful husband and two adorable children. I have no reason to run away from people and nothing to be afraid of. Do you think I am heading for a nervous breakdown? I suggested going to a psychiatrist, but my husband is against it. He says it's all in my head.

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Ask your family doctor to recommend a psychiatrist and to tell your husband why he did so. The psychiatrist may be able to tell you if it's "all in your head."

DEAR ABBY: When our Sunday school class holds its class meetings at a member's house, there are always a few members who bring their knitting or handiwork. This irks me no end. At the last meeting, the person in charge of devotions had to wait until one of the class members finished her stitches. Do you think this was right, and what should be done about it in the future?

IRKED

DEAR IRKED: Handiwork is out of place at a meeting where serious business is being conducted. The worst offenders are insensitive to "needing," so take a vote and let the majority rule.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I cannot agree on something that I think should be settled soon. Our daughter is nearly 17. She is pretty, a good student, has a steady beau and she listens to reason. My wife says that hand-holding, hugging and kissing, and all signs of affection between young people should NOT be done at home, where others might walk in at any moment. This came up when we had another couple in for bridge. The four of us were playing the living room and my daughter and her boy friend were in the kitchen. My wife went into the kitchen for something and she caught them kissing. She was terribly upset. I say I'd rather have them at home doing this than somewhere else. My wife says they have plenty of opportunity to show affection elsewhere, and if one of our friends had walked in on them instead of her, she'd never have been able to face them. She lectured our daughter for an hour the next day and cut her dating down to one night a week instead of two. What do you think?

DAD

DEAR DAD: I think your wife is wrong. Normal and innocent displays of affection between a boy and a girl are natural and harmless. Tell your wife to get off your daughter's back or she might feel that she has to ask her boy friend to rent a motel room in order to give her a goodnight kiss.

Food Budgets Take Battering In Last Year

Outlook for 1966 Is Little Better, Survey Indicates

NEW YORK (AP)—The food bills of budget-minded housewives were battered by bad weather and labor shortages in 1965. The outlook for the coming year is little better.

Americans spent $100 billion for food and alcoholic beverages in 1965, up 6 per cent from 1964. That works out to about $28.25 a week for food for the average family—3.7 persons.

They actually ate less, but were more selective, cutting calories and buying the better grades of meat and produce.

Retail food prices were up an average of 2 per cent from 1964, but there were big increases in some foods.

Take the basic meat and potatoes. Meat prices were up 7 1/2 per cent, with reduced supplies. The average American ate 100 pounds of beef and 60 of pork in 1964, but only 99 and 55 in 1965. Potatoes, reflecting a small crop climbed to 69 cents for 5 pounds in July before settling back to 35 cents in September.

Hurricanes, freezes and heavy rains cut the corn, lima bean, green bean, cabbage, pear, strawberry, lettuce, celery and carrot crops.

The tomato harvest in California was substantially larger than the pessimistic estimates during the height of the bracero dispute last spring but the crop still was down substantially from 1964.

Growers fought Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz for permission for Mexican migrants to enter the United States to work the fields. Wirtz called for use of unemployed Americans.

In Florida, berry growers scaled down operations one-third Doyle Conner, the Florida agricultural commissioner, said they did not want to risk large crop losses because of federal restrictions on importing skilled harvesting labor.

The National Commission on Food Marketing, set up in 1964 to study the food industry, held hearings across the country on livestock prices, supermarket operations, broiler production and the relationship of retailers and processors.

The commission's report is due next June 30. It may call for changes in federal laws and practices, ranging from anti-trust ground rules to the grading of beef.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "Over a century ago, the Baha'i Faith established the principle of obedience to government. True liberty can be found only in obedience to law."

"The one true God hath bestowed the government of the earth upon the kings. To none is given the right to act in any manner that would run counter to the considered views of them who are in authority."

"In every country where any of this community reside, they must behave toward the government of that country with faithfulness, truthfulness and obedience."

Where The New Year Is Born

For millions on the eastern seaboard of the United States, this is where it happens. A lighted "ball" falls from the top of a tower—and it's 1966.

But in Chicago and Winnipeg it is still 1965. In Saskatoon and Denver it is 1965. In Frisco and Vancouver it is 1965. So where in this broad continent is the New Year really born?

When it is born at all—it happens in men's own hearts!

Otherwise the Old Year goes on. And older years add not their blessings but their dregs . . . as men grope for shreds of time to complete old patterns . . . remnants of hope to patch worn-out dreams.

But somewhere a heart speaks to God. In the quiet of a churchly sanctuary it recounts the past with its failures, its defeats. And boldly it enquires into the future with its hope and promise. That soul commits time and talent and treasure to the purposes of Jesus Christ.

And the Father of All, who is not clock-watcher but soul-watcher, turns the page of that calendar. For one soul at a time the New Year is born.

Many Advances By Agriculture Seen During '65

By OVID MARTIN
AP Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (AP) —The nation's agriculture advanced on many fronts during 1965, producing a record volume of crops and the highest average income per farm in history.

Other developments included a cut in government-held surpluses of some commodities, an increase in exports, an expansion in the quantity of food made available for the needy at home and abroad, and a further reduction in the cost of food in relation to consumer incomes.

The year found technology assuming a larger role in agricultural output. Thus fewer workers were needed to help farmers.

Congress enacted new farm legislation affecting cotton, wheat, feed grains, rice, dairy products and surplus cropland. This legislation moved toward the long controversial Brannan production payment philosophy.

Under the new law, growers of cotton, feed grains and wheat will get a larger portion of their crop returns from payments made by the government and less from the market place. The idea of making broad use of such a payment device was first advanced by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture under President Harry S. Truman in 1949. The proposal didn't get anywhere at the time.

This legislation encountered sharp opposition from some farm groups, but was passed in Congress with strong bipartisan support.

Nevertheless, the legislation still left agriculture sorely split over the role government should play in regulating farm production and markets.

Output of food and fiber crops during the year was an estimated 7 per cent larger than in 1964 and 4.5 per cent above the previous high in 1963. This big jump came without any increase in acreage — an accomplishment attributed mainly to further technological advances.

Production of meat animals declined slightly. A slump in cattle and hog prices in 1964 had discouraged producers. A small gain in cattle and hogs is expected in 1966.

The Agriculture Department reported that net farm income totaled $14 billion in 1965. This was the highest since 1952. It compared with $12.9 billion in 1964.

Largely because the number of farms continued to decline, the average net income per farm climbed to a record high of $4,150 in 1965. This was about 11 per cent higher than the 1964 average of $3,727 and nearly 40 per cent higher than the 1950 average of $2,958.

This increase in incomes of farms was not as bright as it appeared on paper, claim critics of government farm-aid programs. They said that much of the increase came from the federal Treasury in the form of production and nonproduction payments — outlays which, they argued added to the national debt.

A major critic of these programs continued to be the American Farm Bureau Federation, the largest of the national farm organizations. It long has advocated a gradual withdrawal of government production, price and market controls, with producers relying more heavily on markets.

With farmers using more machinery, more and better fertilizers, and improved crop varieties, the demand for labor declined an estimated 9 per cent during the year. A further reduction is expected in 1966. Farm employment for the year was said to have averaged 5,564,000 compared with 10,979,000 in 1940, for example.

The government said a significant factor in the 1965 decline in use of workers was its action in greatly limiting the importation of foreign workers, particularly from Mexico. Farm wage rates increased 5 per cent during the year to a national average of 95 cents an hour.

Farm exports during the marketing year ending next June 30 has been forecast as a record high of $6.2 billion. This exceeds the 1960 level by nearly $1.3 billion. The Agriculture Department expects them to reach close to $5 billion by 1970.

U.S. efforts and those of other countries to lower trade barriers to farm commodities made no progress, however, in negotiations held in Geneva.

The government reported also that the value of farm assets and equities made good gains during the year. Although farm debt increased by a record amount, the dollar increase in the debt was said to be much less than the increase in farm asset values. Collection of farm-mortgage loans was reported to have continued excellent in 1965. Delinquencies and foreclosures were few.

The costs of farming, as measured by farm production expenses, continued their long-term upward trend during 1965. A further increase in 1966 has been predicted.

The new year is expected to bring prolonged discussion — and possibly legislation — on the matter of enlarging this country's programs for feeding the needy abroad. Much debate may develop on the advisability of continuing restrictions on production of some crops. However, government farm officials see no need in the near future for lifting controls.

Other issues likely to draw attention of farmers may include legislative proposals to extend federal minimum wage standards to farm workers.

ROANOKE, Va. — Norfolk and Western Railway has completed a year of profitable transition and anticipates both further physical and financial growth, its president said today.

Herman H. Pevler, who heads the 8,000-mile system, said the first full year of the greatly expanded line has brought unusually large but necessary capital outlays but that earnings would be more than $9.50 a common share, highest in history. Restated 1964 earnings were $8.53.

"We are optimistic about 1966 business prospects and are prepared to handle increasing traffic in what we believe will be among the best railroad years in this decade," he said. "We are also confident that our plans to merge with C&O E&O and other railroads will move toward fulfillment before the year's end."

In October, 1964, N&W was expanded to include the Nickel Plate, Wabash and other roads. Last October N&W and Chesapeake and Ohio filed a merger plan with the Interstate Commerce Commission which would include the C&O - controlled Baltimore & Ohio and other eastern roads. Approval would create a 26,400-mile N&W system.

State Education Board Completing Fruitful Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Education's tenth year was one of its biggest, with actions that will affect schools for a long time.

That summary was offered Thursday by State School Supt. E. E. Holt as the board prepared to round out its tenth year at a meeting Jan. 10. It was in January 1956 that the board first met.

Holt cited actions on Educational standards, new vocational programs, federal aid projects and school bus transportation as among the board's accomplishments of 1965. In addition, he noted 1965 saw the start of a study, ordered by the legislature, aimed at developing a master school organization plan for the state.

Most livestock prices are higher this week but storekeepers still are offering specials on beef.

Pork, beef and lamb production all were down in 1965, and retail prices are now higher at some stores.

Shoppers will pay more for canned fruits and vegetables in the months ahead. Stocks of peaches, asparagus, corn, snap beans and tomatoes all are lower than last year, but there are more peas.

Three staple vegetables—cabbage, potatoes and onions—are plentiful. Stocks of frozen orange juice concentrate are bigger than usual and prices are falling.

The price of bread rose about 1 per cent in 1965, and may go higher in 1966, with a shortage of high protein wheat for bakery flour and increased labor and machinery costs for processing.

Butter prices are down in the Northeast and Midwest and on the West Coast this week. So are eggs.

Ohio Sugar Beet Crop Sets Record

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Sugar beets grew to almost a $10 million business this year in Ohio. A record crop was harvested in the northwest Ohio area which became a sugar beet center 65 years ago because a Cleveland engineering firm wanted a model sugar factory to display to its prospective clients.

About 710,000 tons of beets were harvested this year from 30,100 acres of cropland. That is a record sugar beet harvest for Ohio. The average yield of nearly 20 tons an acre also was a record.

Three processing plants—including the pioneer one here in Fremont — are not converting those beets into enough pure sugar to fill more than 1.5 million 100-pound bags.

The record harvest produced nearly $10 million in payments to the 1,500 to 1,600 farmers who raise the beets and the factory workers who process them into pure sugar.

And a spokesman for Ohio's largest sugar processor said next year "we hope we can raise another bumper crop."

Ohio's beets produce only a fraction of the nation's sugar. Ohio ranks far down the list of sugar beet growers, with only two and a half per cent of the 1.25 million acres of beets planted during 1965.

But sugar beets are an important crop in 18 northwestern counties. They usually are raised in conjunction with tomatoes, corn, wheat and other crops.

About two-thirds of Ohio's sugar is processed by the Northern Ohio Sugar Co. at plants in Fremont and Findlay. The state's only other active sugar processing plant is in Ottawa, operated by Buckeye Sugar Co.

Fremont, though, might be called Ohio's "Sugar Capital," for it was there in 1900 that E. H. Dyer & Co. of Cleveland, an engineering and building company, built the state's first sugar processing plant and signed up the first farmers to raise the new crop.

The factory was operated at first by Continental Sugar Co., a firm E. F. Dyer of the Cleveland engineering company helped found. The Dyers built about half of America's sugar factories.

$3 Billion Worth Of Airliners Ordered

NEW YORK (AP) — More than $3 billion worth of airliners have been ordered by U.S. airlines for delivery in 1966, the Air Transport Association says. The amount is three times that of 1965 and includes 240 jets.

The idea behind the Fremont plant was to have, within 60 or so miles of Cleveland, a model factory for exhibition.

That plant began operation processing beets grown on about 4,000 acres of land. Another processing plant was built in Paulding in 1910. Others were built in Findlay in 1911 and in Toledo and in Ottawa in 1912, as production increased until in the late 1930s and early 1940s about 50,000 acres a year was planted in sugar beets.

A bad crop year during World War II, when prices were lower than farmers expected, brought a drop in beet acreage. Only 12,000 acres of beets were planted in 1943.

The industry revived after the war and sugar beet acreage now is fairly stabilized in Ohio at about 30,000 acres. Acreage is controlled under federal regulations, which also govern marketing of the pure sugar.

Beet sugar is no different from any other sugar. Pure sugar, says district manager David L. Sunderland of the Northern Ohio Sugar Co., is the same

"whether it comes from a watermelon or a sugar beet."

Beets and cane, however, are the only practical sources of sugar.

Ohio's 1965 beet crop contrasted with the national picture, with production down by 300,000 tons nationally.

The Ohio price was down slightly, too, because of a slight drop in sugar content, which varies according to weather conditions. Ohio farmers got $14 a ton for their beets last year, but Sunderland said prices this year were $12.50 to $13 a ton.

The record crop, however, boosted the total value of the industry.

Many Advances By Agriculture Seen During '65

By OVID MARTIN
AP Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (AP) —The nation's agriculture advanced on many fronts during 1965, producing a record volume of crops and the highest average income per farm in history.

Other developments included a cut in government-held surpluses of some commodities, an increase in exports, an expansion in the quantity of food made available for the needy at home and abroad, and a further reduction in the cost of food in relation to consumer incomes.

The year found technology assuming a larger role in agricultural output. Thus fewer workers were needed to help farmers.

Congress enacted new farm legislation affecting cotton, wheat, feed grains, rice, dairy products and surplus cropland. This legislation moved toward the long controversial Brannan production payment philosophy.

Under the new law, growers of cotton, feed grains and wheat will get a larger portion of their crop returns from payments made by the government and less from the market place. The idea of making broad use of such a payment device was first advanced by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture under President Harry S. Truman in 1949. The proposal didn't get anywhere at the time.

This legislation encountered sharp opposition from some farm groups, but was passed in Congress with strong bipartisan support.

Nevertheless, the legislation still left agriculture sorely split over the role government should play in regulating farm production and markets.

Output of food and fiber crops during the year was an estimated 7 per cent larger than in 1964 and 4.5 per cent above the previous high in 1963. This big jump came without any increase in acreage — an accomplishment attributed mainly to further technological advances.

Production of meat animals declined slightly. A slump in cattle and hog prices in 1964 had discouraged producers. A small gain in cattle and hogs is expected in 1966.

The Agriculture Department reported that net farm income totaled $14 billion in 1965. This was the highest since 1952. It compared with $12.9 billion in 1964.

Largely because the number of farms continued to decline, the average net income per farm climbed to a record high of $4,150 in 1965. This was about 11 per cent higher than the 1964 average of $3,727 and nearly 40 per cent higher than the 1950 average of $2,958.

This increase in incomes of farms was not as bright as it appeared on paper, claim critics of government farm-aid programs. They said that much of the increase came from the federal Treasury in the form of production and nonproduction payments — outlays which, they argued added to the national debt.

A major critic of these programs continued to be the American Farm Bureau Federation, the largest of the national farm organizations. It long has advocated a gradual withdrawal of government production, price and market controls, with producers relying more heavily on markets.

With farmers using more machinery, more and better fertilizers, and improved crop varieties, the demand for labor declined an estimated 9 per cent during the year. A further reduction is expected in 1966. Farm employment for the year was said to have averaged 5,564,000 compared with 10,979,000 in 1940, for example.

The government said a significant factor in the 1965 decline in use of workers was its action in greatly limiting the importation of foreign workers, particularly from Mexico. Farm wage rates increased 5 per cent during the year to a national average of 95 cents an hour.

Farm exports during the marketing year ending next June 30 has been forecast as a record high of $6.2 billion. This exceeds the 1960 level by nearly $1.8 billion. The Agriculture Department expects them to reach close to $5 billion by 1970.

U.S. efforts and those of other countries to lower trade barriers to farm commodities made no progress, however, in negotiations held in Geneva.

The government reported also that the value of farm assets and equities made good gains during the year. Although farm debt increased by a record amount, the dollar increase in the debt was said to be much less than the increase in farm asset values. Collection of farm-mortgage loans was reported to have continued excellent in 1965. Delinquencies and foreclosures were few.

The costs of farming, as measured by farm production expenses, continued their long-term upward trend during 1965. A further increase in 1966 has been predicted.

The new year is expected to bring prolonged discussion — and possibly legislation — on the matter of enlarging this country's programs for feeding the needy abroad. Much debate may develop on the advisability of continuing restrictions on production of some crops. However, government farm officials see no need in the near future for lifting controls.

Other issues likely to draw attention of farmers may include legislative proposals to extend federal minimum wage standards to farm workers.

In addition, he noted 1965 saw the start of a study, ordered by the legislature, aimed at developing a master school organization plan for the state.

The actions with perhaps the most immediate effect were new standards for junior and senior high schools. These set a minimum of 500 pupils for a four-year high school, or three-year junior high, raised minimum standards for instruction first set in 1957 and set separate standards for junior high schools for the first time.

Another major 1965 program was establishment of joint vocational schools, in which several school districts combine to operate a technical program none could afford alone.

The board also distributed $41 million to Ohio schools under 22 different programs supported wholly or in part with federal funds. The projected total for the 1965-66 school year is $90 million.

During 1955 the board also made a third try at setting up a central agency for purchase of school buses, a system its backers say would save money. But for the third time, opponents of the plan—mainly bus chassis and body dealers—have challenged it in court.

The board will elect a new president in January to succeed Francis W. Spicer.

Braves, Pioneers Winners in ZTHS Holiday Tourney

Zane Trace won its own holiday tournament defeating Huntington Twp., 67-61, in a thrilling overtime tilt. Logan Elm defeated Laureville in the consolation game, 58-46.

The opening tilt between the Braves and the Wildcats was more of a one-sided affair than the final score would indicate.

The Braves jumped to a 13-7 first quarter lead, stretched it to 30-14 at halftime and were on top, 47-20, going into the final period.

At that point, Logan Elm Coach Keith Merrin began substituting freely and the Wildcats were able to close the margin in the last period, scoring 20 points against the Braves.

DARRYL Reichelderfer, the Logan Elm center, got the Braves off to an early start, hitting five of seven field goal attempts in the first quarter for ten of his team's points. He added another field goal in the second period as he notched all 12 of his points in the first half.

Also scoring 12 points for the Braves was Steve Fouch while Tom Smith added 11 to the attack.

Much of the difference in the two teams was in the rebounding department. Logan Elm pulled 56 missed shots off the boards while Laureville could collect only 30.

This rebounding superiority gave the Braves the second and third shot in many instances. They connected on 23 of 72 field goal attempts.

The LE defense choked Laureville off with a 25 per cent shooting average, limiting the Wildcats to 14 of 56 attempts.

The leading scorer for the Wildcats was Rick Unger with 16 points. Dwight Woodward tallied 10 for the losers.

IN THE championship game, Zane Trace's ability to score against a Huntington press in the second quarter may well have been the difference in the tilt.

The first quarter of the tilt saw the score tied six times. With 3:30 to go in the first half, Zane Trace took a 28-26 lead and then scored ten points, all on a fast break through the Huntsmen press, before the half ended.

During a like period, the Huntsmen could notch only four markers and they trailed, 38-30, going into the third quarter.

But coach Charles Pritchard put his team back in a tight zone as the third period got under way, and playing a deliberate style of game. The Huntsmen led, 48-45 as the fourth quarter got under way.

There was a thrill a minute in the final period although both teams played a deliberate style, looking for the good shot.

With just five seconds remaining in regular play, Dave Large put Zane Trace ahead as he canned a pair of free throws.

HUNTINGTON raced back down the floor. A Huntsman took a wild desperation shot from the middle of the floor which missed its mark. But Pfeifer, the Huntington center, was standing under the basket with open arms, pulled the shot off the boards and sank one of his own as the buzzer sounded.

He was fouled in the act of shooting, and had a chance to win it all for his team. But his charity toss bounced harmlessly off the back of the rim and was rebounded by Francis Breeden of Zane Trace.

In the overtime, the Pioneers came up with ten big points while Huntington could notch only four.

Dave Large was the leading scorer in the game, with a total of 25 points. He connected on eight field goals and had a perfect night at the foul line where he sank nine of nine tries.

Adding double figure support were Francis Breeden with 14, Bob Maxwell with ten and Ron Edwards with 12.

FOR THE losers, Kellough tallied 22 on seven field goals and eight foul shots.

The Pioneers hit 15 of 18 shots at the foul line while Huntington connected on 13 of 20.

The Huntsmen hit 24 of 65 shots from the field. Zane Trace basketballers connected on 26 of 62 shots.

Chalked by Russell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Russell and rebounding go together like the Boston Celtics and winning.

The lean and agile center, who has led the Celtics to eight National Basketball Association titles in his nine seasons as a pro, boosted his career rebound record pat the 16,000 mark Thursday night.

And Boston beat the San Francisco Warriors 116-113.

Russell pulled down 28 rebounds in the close one at Providence, R.I., making his total 16,923, while John Havlicek, Tom Sanders and Don Nelson paced the Celtic scoring. San Francisco led by as many as 10 in the third period, but Boston raced back for an 86-80 tie going into the final quarter and broke it open in the closing moments.

Whitely Ford of the New York Yankees has the highest career winning percentage in major league pitching annals. With 232 victories and 97 setbacks his percentage is .705.

Only 3 Teams Now Listed As Undefeated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The old year has just about been wiped out and so has the list of major college basketball teams.

The unblemished list was cut in half Thursday night with Dayton, Temple and fourth-ranked Iowa the latest casualties.

Only three teams, Texas Western, Bradley and Kentucky, still have perfect records as the colleges turn into the new year and begin concentrating on conference play.

Dayton was the stubbornest of the trio that went down, losing 77-75 to Maryland in the finals of the Sugar Bowl Tournament at New Orleans, La., after winning nine straight.

Henry Finkel, Dayton's 6-foot-11 center, poured in a record 44 points for the Flyers before fouling out with six seconds to play. Neil Brayton led Maryland with 19 as four Terps reached double figures.

Eighth-ranked St. Joseph's burst the Temple bubble with a 97-65 rout that wrapped up the Quaker City Tournament crown at Philadelphia.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Missouri, 7-2-1, vs. Florida, 7-3, 2 p.m. EST, NBC-TV.

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. — Michigan State, 10-0, vs. UCLA, 7-2-1, 5 p.m. EST, NBC-TV.

Orange Bowl at Miami — Nebraska, 10-0, vs. Alabama, 8-1-1, 8 p.m. EST, NBC-TV.

Michigan State ranks as the country's No. 1 team, followed in order by Arkansas, Nebraska, Alabama, UCLA and Missouri. The Associated Press' panel of experts will vote in a poll after the New Year's games, with the national championship going to the top-ranked team.

Donny Anderson of Texas Tech, the versatile two-time All-America halfback, will be the chief attraction in the Gator Bowl. However, this one also matches up two star quarterbacks, Tom Wilson of the Red Raiders and Georgia Tech sophomore Kim King.

As usual the East-West game will present an impressive cast. Seven All-Americans will be in action — fullback Jim Grabowski of Illinois, linebackers Frank Emanuel of Tennessee and Dwight Kelley of Ohio State, center Pat Killorin of Syracuse and end Aaron Brown of Minnesota for the East; and halfback Mike Garrett of Southern California and linebacker Carl McAdams of Oklahoma for the West.

Texas Christian, off a more rugged schedule, rates as a slight favorite over Texas Western. But the Horned Frogs will have to contend with an aerial blitz from the Miners, led by sophomore marksman Billy Stevens. He passed for 21 touchdowns this season, and gained over 3,000 yards through the air.

Texas Tech Star Prefers Green Bay

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Donny Anderson, Texas Tech's two-time All-America backfield star, will sign a contract with the Green Bay Packers today for around $600,000, making him the highest-paid rookie ever in professional football, The Associated Press learned Thursday night.

Anderson refused to make a commitment but a close friend and adviser said the 215 pound halfback was leaning toward the National Football League team over the rival Houston Oilers of the American Football League, earlier reported ready to cough up $800,000.

Teays Valley Defeats Lakewood

The Vikings of Teays Valley swamped Lakewood, 77-42, capturing their own holiday tournament last night. The consolation game was won by Reynoldsburg, 57-46 victors over Groveport.

Garrett To Sign With Kansas City

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Garrett, University of Southern California star halfback, apparently will go to Kansas City of the American Football league, it was disclosed here Thursday.

Announcement of the move was made by owner Dan Reeves of the Los Angeles Rams.

The National Football League team president struck a sad note as he said: "We have learned tonight that Mike Garrett will not be with the Rams. We are sorry and we wish him well."

"It was not possible for us to sign Garrett and retain our sense of proportion. Specifically, I refer to our efforts to be as fair as possible to all those within the Ram organization."

The Vikings trailed for the first quarter. The score was 10-8 as the second period got underway.

But with 6:58 showing on the clock until the halftime, Gerald Green zipped a 20-foot jump shot that put the Vikings ahead for good.

At halftime, Teays Valley was on top 35-13 and as the fourth quarter began the score was 56-28.

ALL VIKING players saw action as four of the winners cracked the double figure scoring column.

Rod Teets led the way, hitting nine field goals and a single charity toss for 19 markers.

Gerald Green tallied 15 points on six field goals and three charity tosses. Butch Kinsell and Gayle Fosnaugh tallied 10 each.

Wilson, a forward, led the teams in assists and rebounds with five and eight respectively. Fosnaugh had seven rebounds as the Vikings handled a total of 35 off the boards.

The Vikings hit at a torrid rate, canning 53 per cent of their field goals attempts. At the foul line, they converted on five of 12.

Lakewood hit only two of eight charity tosses.

FOR THE losers, Randy Fouch, the leading scorer in the Licking County League, was held to 14 markers by Teays Valley's defense.

The win gives the Vikings a 4-4 record for the season. After opening with four straight losses, the Vikings have now won four in a row.

Braves, Pioneers
Winners in ZTHS
Holiday Tourney

Zane Trace won its own holiday tournament defeating Huntington Twp., 67-61, in a thrilling overtime tilt. Logan Elm defeated Laurelville in the consolation game, 58-46.

The opening tilt between the Braves and the Wildcats was more of a one-sided affair than the final score would indicate.

The Braves jumped to a 13-7 first quarter lead, stretched it to 30-14 at halftime and were on top, 47-20, going into the final period.

At that point, Logan Elm Coach Keith Merrin began substituting freely and the Wildcats were able to close the margin in the last period, scoring 26 points against the Braves.

DARRYL Reichelderfer, the Logan Elm center, got the Braves off to an early start, hitting five of seven field goal attempts in the first quarter for ten of his team's points. He added another field goal in the second period as he notched all 12 of his points in the first half.

Also scoring 12 points for the Braves was Steve Fouch while Tom Smith added 11 to the attack.

Much of the difference in the two teams was in the rebounding department. Logan Elm pulled 56 missed shots off the boards while Laurelville could collect only 30.

This rebounding superiority gave the Braves the second and third shot in many instances. They connected on 23 of 72 field goal attempts.

The LE defense choked Laurelville off with a 25 per cent shooting average, limiting the Wildcats to 14 of 56 attempts.

The leading scorer for the Wildcats was Rick Unger with 16 points. Dwight Woodward tallied 10 for the losers.

IN THE championship game, Zane Trace's ability to score against a Huntington press in the second quarter may well have been the difference in the tilt.

The first quarter of the tilt saw the score tied six times. With 3:30 to go in the first half, Zane Trace took a 28-26 lead and then scored ten points, all on a fast break through the Huntsmen press, before the half ended.

During a like period, the Huntsmen could notch only four markers and they trailed, 38-30, going into the third quarter.

But coach Charles Pritchard put his team back in a tight zone as the third period got under way, and playing a deliberate style of game. The Huntsmen led, 48-45 as the fourth quarter got under way.

There was a thrill a minute in the final period although both teams played a deliberate style, looking for the good shot.

With just five seconds remaining in regular play, Dave Large put Zane Trace ahead as he canned a pair of free throws.

HUNTINGTON raced back down the floor. A Huntsman took a wild desperation shot from the middle of the floor which missed its mark.

But Pfeifer, the Huntington center, was standing under the basket with open arms, pulled the shot off the boards and sank one of his own as the buzzer sounded.

He was fouled in the act of shooting, and had a chance to win it all for his team. But his charity toss bounced harmlessly off the back of the rim and was rebounded by Francis Breeden of Zane Trace.

In the overtime, the Pioneers came up with ten big points while Huntington could notch only four.

Dave Large was the leading scorer in the game, with a total of 25 points. He connected on eight field goals and had a perfect night at the foul line where he sank nine of nine tries.

Adding double figure support were Francis Breeden with 14, Bob Maxwell with ten and Ron Edwards with 12.

FOR THE losers, Kellough tallied 22 on seven field goals and eight foul shots.

The Pioneers hit 15 of 18 shots at the foul line while Huntington connected on 13 of 20.

The Huntsmen hit 24 of 65 shots from the field. Zane Trace basketballers connected on 26 of 62 shots.

16,000th Rebound
Chalked by Russell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Russell and rebounding go together like the Boston Celtics and winning.

The lean and agile center, who has led the Celtics to eight National Basketball Association titles in his nine seasons as a pro, boosted his career rebound record past the 16,000 mark Thursday night.

And Boston beat the San Francisco Warriors 116-113.

Russell pulled down 28 rebounds in the close one at Providence, R.I., making his total 16,023, while John Havlicek, Tom Sanders and Don Nelson paced the Celtic scoring. San Francisco led by as many as 10 in the third period, but Boston raced back for an 86-86 tie going into the final quarter and broke it open in the closing moments.

Whitney Ford of the New York Yankees has the highest career winning percentage in major league pitching annals. With 232 victories and 97 setbacks his percentage is .705.

Only 3 Teams
Now Listed
As Undefeated

The old year has just about been wiped out and so has the list of major college basketball teams.

Far from Perfect Weather Slated For Browns-Packers Title Joust

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The long-range weather forecast for Packerland calls for a little rain and possibly a little snow for the rest of the week, leading up to a cloudy Sunday with the thermometer in the mid 20s and perhaps a light dusting of snow for the big game.

In other words, get ready for anything. Green Bay has been working all week on a damp practice field with soggy turf over a frozen base. It is something like lemon chiffon pie with a cement crust.

A capacity crowd of 50,852 is assured for the National Football League championship contest between the Packers and the Cleveland Browns at 2:10 p.m., EST Sunday at Lambeau Stadium.

The game will be seen and heard on CBS radio and television, with Green Bay blacked out on TV.

Because of the slippery field, Coach Vince Lombardi has had to be careful with his limping warriors, especially Jim Taylor. The Packer fullback pulled a groin muscle recently and is trying to nurse it back into shape. As a result he has not been running full speed on the soupy field.

Don't get the idea that the game will be played in these conditions. Lambeau Stadium rests cozily under a layer of hay plus a tarp. It will be playable and surprisingly good, depending upon the weather when they roll the tarp back Sunday morning and remove the hay.

With about $7,000 at stake for every winning share and $4,600 for each loser, everybody expects another hard-hitting game like last Sunday's Baltimore-Green Bay battle. In case of a tie they will play sudden-death overtime once again.

Cleveland is due tonight and will bed down in a motel in Appleton 25 miles away. Coach Blanton Collier plans to herd the Browns into town for a brief workout Saturday morning following Green Bay's final limbering up session.

If it is true that the oddsmakers have made the Packers a slim 1½-point favorites they must be counting on the Green Bay defense. The Packers gave up only 22 touchdowns in regular season play, 11 on the ground and 11 in the air. The Browns yielded 43 TDs, 12 on runs and 31 on passes.

With these statistics in mind it is easy to see why Bart Starr's physical condition is of paramount importance to the Packers. Green Bay's No. 1 quarterback and passing threat suffered bruised ribs on the right side and back when blocked by Jim Welch in Sunday's game with Baltimore. He resumed passing Wednesday and has been improving a little each day.

"I'll play," insists Starr. Lombardi continues to adopt the wait-and-see attitude.

Jim Brown gives the defending team champions a big edge in running, with the assist of halfback Ernie Green. Both are dangerous pass receivers as well. The ground game is Cleveland's basic attack. When it is clicking it gives Frank Ryan time to find and hit Paul Warfield and Gary Collins, his favorite targets.

The Packers' pair of Taylor and Paul Hornung floundered during most of the season, but began to come on after Lombardi reshuffled his offensive line. Hornung scored five touchdowns against Baltimore Dec. 12, and has to be the big threat in this one.

Cleveland center John Morrow brought proof from Thursday's practice session that the Brown's defensive team is working hard in preparation for Sunday's game.

Morrow was hit when he attempted to block a, the club concentrated on defense and he came out of the encounter with bruised ribs. Dr. Vic Ippolito, the team's physician, said x-rays showed there was no injury and that Morrow shouldn't be hampered in the championship game.

Quarterback Frank Ryan returned to the practice field and was feeling well enough to kid about the abdominal pains that kept him out of action Wednesday.

"I started to feel much better when I read how well Nino (quarterback Jim Ninowski) was throwing," Ryan quipped.

PLAYING WINTER GOLF ISN'T FOR ME, MR. ABERNATHY--IT'S MUCH TOO COLD!

NONSENSE, JONATHAN--ACTUALLY, IT HAS MANY ADVANTAGES.

FOR ONE THING YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT SANDTRAPS.

Far from Perfect Weather Slated For Browns-Packers Title Joust

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The long-range weather forecast for Packerland calls for a little rain and possibly a little snow for the rest of the week, leading up to a cloudy Sunday with the thermometer in the mid 20s and perhaps a light dusting of snow for the big game.

In other words, get ready for anything. Green Bay has been working all week on a damp practice field with soggy turf over a frozen base. It is something like lemon chiffon pie with a cement crust.

A capacity crowd of 50,852 is assured for the National Football League championship contest between the Packers and the Cleveland Browns at 2:10 p.m., EST Sunday at Lambeau Stadium.

The game will be seen and heard on CBS radio and television, with Green Bay blacked out on TV.

Because of the slippery field, Coach Vince Lombardi has had to be careful with his limping warriors, especially Jim Taylor. The Packer fullback pulled a groin muscle recently and is trying to nurse it back into shape. As a result he has not been running full speed on the soupy field.

Don't get the idea that the game will be played in these conditions. Lambeau Stadium rests cozily under a layer of hay plus a tarp. It will be playable and surprisingly good, depending upon the weather when they roll the tarp back Sunday morning and remove the hay.

With about $7,000 at stake for every winning share and $4,600 for each loser, everybody expects another hard-hitting game like last Sunday's Baltimore-Green Bay battle. In case of a tie they will play sudden-death overtime once again.

Cleveland is due tonight and will bed down in a motel in Apolito 25 miles away. Coach Blanton Collier plans to herd the Browns into town for a brief workout Saturday morning following Green Bay's final limbering up session.

If it is true that the oddsmakers have made the Packers a slim 1 1/2 - point favorites they must be counting on the Green Bay defense. The Packers gave up only 22 touchdowns in regular season play, 11 on the ground and 11 in the air. The Browns yielded 43 TDs, 12 on runs and 31 on passes.

51 Permits Are Granted In Township

In the year the Circleville Twp. zoning ordinance has been in effect, 51 building permits have been issued by Paul E. Betz, township zoning inspector.

Betz reported 43 of the permits have been for new homes, one for a duplex, one for a service station, one for a commercial garage and one for an office-sales room combination.

In addition three permits have been issued in connection with the motel-restaurant under construction south of Circleville. One of the permits is for a swim pool, one for the motel and the third for the restaurant.

Betz says six applications for permits have been rejected because they did not comply with zoning regulations.

TWO OF these rejections were appealed and were ultimately granted by the appeals board.

There have been no violations of the zoning regulations set up by the commission appointed by the township trustees.

Betz stated he has copies of the zoning code and zoning maps available for persons who need them.

Sales Tax Down in Pickaway

Sales tax collections in Pickaway County for the fiscal year beginning July 1 until Dec. 25 totaled $163,939.40, according to a report from John D. Herbert, state treasurer.

This total represents a decrease of $8,906.08 over a like period one year ago when $172,845.48 had been collected.

Pickaway County is one of 30 throughout the state registering decreased sales tax collections this year.

However, Herbert's report shows sales tax revenues for the entire state are up 14.2 per cent.

During the two week period before Christmas collections here were $12,661.89, compared to $12,594.42 last year.

Motor vehicle tax collections show a sharp increase. Collections for the fiscal year are $142,110.84 while the report shows $127,288.15 had been collected by this time last year.

For the two week period before Christmas, receipts were $10,740.80 this year. Last year during a similar period they were $10,202.41.

Missouri Farm Group Is Bidding To Speak for Middle-of-Roaders

By OVID MARTIN
AP Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bid for recognition as a national spokesman for middle-of-the-road farmers is being made by one of the largest of the state organizations, the Missouri Farmers Association (MFA).

As of today, it changed its name to the Midcontinent Farmers Association, retaining the MFA initials and emblem by which it has become widely known beyond the borders of Missouri.

In the view of Fred V. Heinkel, of Columbia, Mo., president of the organization, farmers need a moderate voice in Washington, where laws and programs affecting them are made and administered.

Heinkel is no new voice in national farm affairs. He has been a close adviser to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman since Freeman was appointed by President John F. Kennedy in 1961. In fact, the Missourian was among those whom Kennedy had considered for the farm cabinet post.

The MFA leaders say there is a gap in farm organization

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Ed Kliem watched a swarm of bees build and work a honey comb for three years between the third floor ceiling and the roof at St. John's school.

leadership that needs to be filled—and they hope to fill it by spreading their legislative, organizational and information functions to other states, particularly in the midwest.

While not criticizing other big farm organizations, the MFA chieftains analyze the situation as one in which their rivals largely express extreme views on such questions as federal farm aid, including crop controls, price supports, farm subsidies and the like.

The MFA leaders describe the American Farm Bureau Federation, the organization reporting the largest membership of any farm organization, as being too conservative for many producers. The federation has long fought to end federal farm programs.

They see the National Farmers Union, long a battler for more aggressive and more costly farm programs, as a future question mark. Its militant leader, James G. Patton, is stepping aside next month. The union faces internal conflicts over future policies.

The oldest of the national farm organizations, the National Grange, has been expressing views relatively close to those of the MFA. But it is short of membership in the great midwestern farm states and is viewed by some critics as a fraternal society, primarily.

The newest of the national farm groups is the National Farmers Organization, claiming membership in states extending from Pennsylvania into the rocky mountains. It is viewed by most other farm organizations as an advocate of extreme measures to boost farm income.

The MFA has been a supporter of most of the farm programs and policies of the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations, and it is expected to continue to back the programs now in effect. The farmers union backed the same policies and programs, but it urged more federal farm aid than the administration offered.

Heinkel said his organization has approximately 152,000 members. It owns plants, distributes farm supplies and writes insurance in 16 states.

Heinkel believes that his new organization may in time become the vehicle by which many smaller farm and commodity organizations can join together to attain legislative recognition before congress and federal agencies.
